The Ministry That Keeps on Giving ...

VOLUME 2 NUMBER 7

"Over the last three months I have been increasingly experiencing pain associated with the emptiness of abandonment."

The Unreconciled

Have you ever had a time wherein you felt empty and alone? A time wherein Satan reminds you of past "repented" sin continually. Over the last three months I have been increasingly experiencing pain associated with the emptiness of abandonment. I have not felt like talking to or writing anyone. I have not felt that anyone was genuinely interested in talking to or even writing a repentant sinner. Ironically, I have actually written a number of people. I have also in fact received several letters and even spoken to one person. At least two of those persons appear to have a genuine concern. I was blessed, comforted and even encouraged by their letters.

Having the Spirit of Christ within allows me to see that this internal turmoil creates in me such vulnerability that my capacity to serve God is diminished. This relational vulnerability leaves me in a continual state of sadness. It creates in me a desire to reach out for a loving and Godly relationship. My earthly security, (accountability partners) have made themselves unavailable. I cry out to God to keep me through this time. I see my vulnerability when engaging in conversation with those perceived to have a heart for God. My love and even more my vulnerability reaches out. Those desiring to be a Godly blessing will reciprocate. I find myself still more vulnerable.

Satan returns and inner turmoil resurfaces. Thank God for His word, for it matters not my feelings, sensitivity or vulnerability.

"My delight is in the law of the Lord and in His word doeth I meditate day and night."

Psalms 1:2

How can I minister to others if I am unable to maintain my own vessel in the Lord? I recall that God's strength is made perfect in weakness.

"And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me."

2 Corinthians 12:9

My weakness is feeling empty and alone, desiring to be in a loving relationship ordained of God. My weakness is exacerbated by a break in communication with those I love. I cry out to God again as I must serve my Lord Jesus Christ. He (Christ) has taught me to love with a pure heart.

I have noticed that God sometimes answers prayer by subtraction, momentarily leaving a seemingly greater void than before. Father, in the name of Jesus, fill the void in my heart with your love. Allow me to draw ever closer to you that I might experience your strength made perfect.

"For out of much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote unto you with many tears... Sufficient to such a man is this punishment, which was afflicted of many. So that contrariwise ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such an one be swallowed up with over much sorrow...." 2 Corinthians 2:4-8

There is a balm in Gilead! Lord I thank you for manifesting your power in my present reality. Please Father in Jesus' name reach out to the body of Christ that we might quickly reconcile the fallen after repentance that Satan might not destroy him for whom Christ died.

If nobody has told you yet today, let me be the first to say that I love you all and you can't do a thing about it.
